

SAFETY AND TRAINING

Businesses spend $170 billion annually on costs associated with occupational injuries and illness.

Training and instruction in safe work practices are provided for every new team member. Additional safety meetings are held on a regular basis at job sites to discuss new safety considerations. Our safety & risk management training is provided to all new team members. Additional trainings are held as new safety considerations emerge. Skyline Building Care is dedicated to reducing your liability and risk through a proactive approach to safety. Emphasizing safety and risk management training for our team members reduces costs for both our company and yours.
